KidsPeace’s Walk-in Assessments Address Mental/Behavioral Health Crises Amid COVID-19 Pandemic

Services Available through Outpatient Offices in Lehigh Valley, Monroe County

SCHNECKSVILLE, PA (April 13, 2020) - A mental or behavioral health crisis is a terrifying experience for the person suffering and their loved ones – and that’s more true than ever during the current pandemic emergency. In the Lehigh Valley and Monroe County of Pennsylvania, KidsPeace provides free walk-in assessments at its outpatient offices during business hours, with no appointment necessary, for individuals facing a crisis.

The assessments, conducted by clinical professionals at the offices, allow for fast evaluation of mental health condition and, if needed, crisis intervention – relieving the pressure on hospitals and emergency rooms as they prepare for a surge in COVID-19 cases.

As KidsPeace is considered a provider of “life-sustaining” services, seeking help from our professionals is allowed under Pennsylvania’s “stay-at-home” order. However, individuals who have symptoms of COVID-19 or who are concerned about social distancing should call the office nearest them and talk with the clinical professional first.

A list of the office locations where walk-in assessments are available in Allentown, Bethlehem (Fountain Hill) and Mt. Pocono is at www.kidspeace.org/community-resources. KidsPeace is committed to continuing to provide walk-in assessments as long as the outpatient offices are allowed to be open.

To learn more about what happens in a walk-in assessment session, listen to the latest episode of the “Conversations with KidsPeace” podcast, available here and wherever you get your podcasts.
